The latest, hottest, subject in the privacy rights and data protection area is the General Data Protection Regulation, which comes into force on 25 May 2018. The Regulation ushers in significant financial sanctions, rights of compensation and group litigation mechanisms.

DAC Beachcroft worked closely with data protection experts from all of the 28 Member States so as to put together a report into how these GDPR measures will change the compensation and regulatory sanctions regime.

Experts from ?uca Zbârcea & Asocia?ii analysed and offered extremely useful data for Romania, thus contributing to this excellent research tool, which also offers insights into which European countries will face the greatest changes as a result of the GDPR.
